

Summer Science Camp is about making the world of possibilities a reality.

Jada thought science was boring and something you just read about. When Jada received a week of MOSI Summer Science Camp through a scholarship, she chose Creative Chemistry because its description mentioned fireworks. But a wonderful event occurred in Jada's life as she discovered how chemistry applied to making food, artwork, and products. With her perception of chemistry and science expanded, she went home excited to share her experiences every day. Chemistry became a new found love for Jada who now wants to make nutritious foods that are fun, as a future food chemist.

Why your help is needed:

- A significant number of disadvantaged children will stay home alone during the summer.
- Children not involved in organized programs are more likely to engage in dangerous experimentation.
- MOSI Summer Science Camp engages and challenges young minds while discouraging risky behaviors that draw in the bored and uninspired.
- Children deserve the friendship, enrichment and just plain fun that Summer Science Camp provides.
- With your assistance, a child will have an opportunity to explore science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) topics, gain new skills, build self-confidence, and engage in fun enrichment activities.
